Stage 2:

You want to modify j001.html so that on the page, there is also a button, and when you press the button, the current date is put in a separate portion of the web page. If you press the button twice, the old date should disappear and the new date should replace it.